Writing farm insurance poses many challenges; this is due to the wide range of activities in which farmers engage, farm diversification into non-farm business activities, the need to also insure the farm-related personal residential exposures, increased reliance on technology in farming, and changes in farm ownership (trust, corporation, LLC, etc.). Participants will examine property loss exposures faced by clients who are farmers, those who own farm property but do not engage in farming, and those who have an insurance interest in farm property, such as a trustee or beneficiary in a farm trust. Discover coverage provided in various Farm Property Coverage forms and significant property endorsements available to tailor coverage. Particular attention will be given to forms, endorsements, policy provisions, and causes of loss (perils) that are unique to farm coverages.

The use of trusts is becoming the standard practice for individuals and households who hold any appreciable asset. The principal attraction of trusts is that they allow property to be passed down to heirs or transferred to others more quickly and at less cost than a will. Under a trust agreement, assets can pass immediately from the grantor (or donor or settlor) to the beneficiaries without having to go through the cost and public disclosure of probate. This course is designed to provide participants with an understanding of the insurance implications that exist for clients who have established a trust. The course includes a comprehensive review of trust terminology, types of trusts, parties involved, and resultant property and liability loss exposures. Commercial and personal lines coverage options will also be examined, along with real life case examples regarding how each can be used to address particular liability and property needs.
